ALLEGHENY COUNTY OFFICIAL.

The Return Judges met yesterday. Owing to the fact that forty two candidates' votes had to be counted with great good care, we are unprepared this morning to furnish a full and complete report of official footings. The clerks labored up to a late hour last night, but only got down in their calculations to the Assembly ticket, when they gave out and adjourned. We present, however, the gratifying intelligence that Gen. James S. Negley has a majority of 2,198 over Hopkins, or, mark it, 128 more of a majority than Moorhead received over Sweitzer in 1868. This, achieved in face of a formidable third party and a united front of the Democracy, is the greatest political victory of the day. In 1868 the Republican party was a unit. The war had just closed. The sods were yet green on tens of thousands of graves that hid from earth the heroes who died for our country. The disloyalty and treachery of the Democracy were things fresh in the memory of the people; the cannon's roar still reverberated in dying sounds throughout the land. The martyred President had but fallen into his untimely tomb; the people had but realized the glorious victory they had gained. To have been loyal, to have been Republican, was a grand thought, and none desired to eradicate their records by showing hands with the enemy. And, yet! in that year, only facing plain opposition—call it copper head who may—J. K. Moorhead received but a majority of 3,085! In 1869, then Negley having to contend against a formidable independent movement under the name of "Labor Reform," and the Democratic strength, which united with the revolutionists, was elected by a majority of 4,479, or 1,414 over J. K. Moorhead in 1868! That year Negley's personal strength and popularity was exemplified. He triumphed over two elements of strength. He laid both by a larger majority than Moorhead received when he had the Democracy alone to fight just on the close of the grand failure of rebellion and the signal triumph of Republican principles!

Negley never has had a free fight. He has had two enemies each time to strangle. He has not proved unequal to the task. He has triumphed successfully. In 1869, over combined opposition, he developed 1,414 of a majority over that of Moorhead in 1868. In this year of our Lord 1870, having a formidable party made up with sore heads, disappointed office seekers and political scabbodies out of the Republican party, and the straight out Democratic party, aided by the money of the Free Trade League of New York, then Negley, the man of the people, triumphs by a majority of 2,198, or 128 more than was won by J. K. Moorhead in 1868 under the rosiest of circumstances. While the majority of Negley is 2,198 over Hopkins, and 128 over that received by Moorhead in 1868, it is only 9,702 over Mr. Frew, the candidate of the Commercial for Congress! 9,702! Pretty figure, indeed. Yet the Commercial once, thrice, nay one hundred times said during the late campaign that the contest was between Frew and Hopkins. So it was—but it was a question as to who should be the worst beaten by Negley. Frew takes the cup; let him have it, for he has been leeched enough to deserve cupping.

In Allegheny county Ebenezer McJunkin has a swimming majority of 3,119 over Stowell.

All of the Republican ticket is elected. We have had a glorious victory, and no matter what has befallen other districts, old Allegheny county can once more truthfully assert that she has done her duty well and faithfully. She has gained a triumph as bright and brilliant as any that has ever before marked her political history.

The following is the official vote of the recent election, so far as counted by the Return Inspectors of Allegheny county at their meeting yesterday:

PRIVATE advices received announce that Mccall in the XVIIth District, Republican, has been defeated by nine votes. Griffith, Democrat, in the XXth District, is elected. Foster, Democrat, is elected in the XXIst District. McClellan, Democrat, is elected in the XXIIth District. We have little hopes that any of these Districts are saved.

GENERALITIES.

An Illinois woman committed suicide by hanging herself to an apple tree, in the orchard a neighbor pointed the end appeared some of the limbs, and consoled him by saying that he had met with a terrible loss. "Yes," said the husband, bursting a sigh, "who would have picked into the thunder to shake off six or seven dozen apples that would have been worth a dollar apiece when they were ripe?"

MR. NATHAN HALE, of Durham, Conn., is still thanked God that he lives in a free country where it was not necessary to be a Union man to be hung. The name of the Hale family and rose through the dust and of the place, but even its bones and dust would have been scattered to the winds. The Union would have perished with it, and the world would have perished with it, nearly the natural value of the old stone house and the entire Atlantic.

A GUM SICKARD, who is of persons making applications in the State Land Office, made a personal call upon the Secretary of Foreign, one day last week, and requested to know if there was anything he could do connected with the business of the office. Being the holder of a land warrant, he wished to locate it. The Secretary informed him that he could not do so, but that he could send it to the land office and have it located for him. He thanked the Secretary for his kindness, and went on his way rejoicing. The warrant was returned to him by mail, and he has since been informed that it is nearly the actual value of the old stone house and the entire Atlantic.

THE Baltimore Gazette of Tuesday has the following: "The Hon. Montgomery Blair, late Postmaster General, now in the Democratic harness, is the guest of Hon. Reverdy Johnson. Mr. Blair has been very ill, and put on his armor for the first time yesterday. He is to make a speech in this city to-night, and will be followed by Governor Swann. Mr. Blair is to make his speech from the steps of the Exchange, and will be followed by Governor Swann

Allegheny county is a sterling, loyal county, and very many of those connected with the "Reform" movement were moved by an earnest desire for the success of pure Republican principles. They are aware they have been misled, and the leaders of that movement could not rally two hundred votes in the whole county to its support.

PRISON REFORM.

Among the many questions arising before the Prison Congress at Cincinnati, was one relating to the sentences passed on criminals. Mr. M. D. Hill, an eminent English criminal judge, communicated a paper on this subject, contending against sentences being limited to specific periods. He urged that the true principle of public punishment was reformation. After an animated discussion, the Congress seemed to concur in his views, and supported the position that no discharge from prison should be made, except on satisfactory proof of reformation on the part of the convict.

We are forced to believe that where the idea is humane and protective in its whole nature, it is utterly impracticable. There must be some limit to the power to punish. It cannot be graded according to the reformation and repentance of the offender, for there are many crimes committed under a pressure of circumstances that are almost instantly followed by remorse and repentance. There are crimes, too, that may never be followed by repentance or reformation. The woman who steals a loaf of bread for her hungry child, has committed no less theft in the eyes of the law, though she may excite the humanity of the court, than the man who steals for a trade. And yet, in the first instance, it would be a difficult matter to determine when that woman was sufficiently reformed to be able to resist a similar temptation.

But beyond all this we cannot conceive how such an idea is to be carried into effect. How the reformation of any man is to be satisfactorily proven in any particular where he is isolated from all temptation to commit that particular offence. The great and leading power urging such reform, would in every instance be duress of imprisonment. The condition of the mind of a prisoner who is forever looking to freedom from bodily restraint, while it might be very flexible material to work upon, would scarcely retain the moral force of reform, long after he was permitted to roam at large. More than this, we undertake to assert that there is no set of men of such wisdom in the great school of life, as to be able to read the hearts of prisoners and learn from any well defined rule whether such reformation was a farce or sincere.

We think the able paper of Judge Robt. Pitman of Massachusetts, contains matter of much more practical application and that terms of prison service as sentences for any one class of crime should be equalized as far as possible. An illustration of the idea he was presenting occurs in almost every county in the Union, and must strike an observer with astonishment.

We sincerely hope that this Prison Congress, in its great effort of humanity, may not, as too frequently occurs in assemblies of men gathered for the purpose of reform, drift off into ideas that are purely utopian, but that it will give to the world, sound and practical suggestions, that may become a part of the fixed laws of the land.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

The Methodist State Convention, to be held at Philadelphia, commencing Tuesday, 18th, promises to be an immense affair. Fully one thousand delegates are expected, and perhaps fourteen hundred. Its sessions will be held in Horticultural Hall. The following are the special topics to be presented in essay form, or verbally, by a special committee on each one, and afterwards they will be discussed by the members of the Convention: "Methodism, its Growth and present Position in the State," "the Type of Piety necessary to the highest prosperity of the Church," "the Charitable Institutions of the Church," "the Duty of the Church in relation to the Christian Education of the Children of the Covenant," the Educational Interests of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Pennsylvania," "The Public School Question," "the Duty of the Christian Citizen to the State." The Convention will likely adjourn on the Thursday night following.

The General Conference of the Seventh Day Baptists, has recently been held at Little Genesee, New York. The new constitution proposed was rejected by a majority of the congregation.

So much attention has been given to the war and the fall elections of late that the Annual Meeting of the American Board of Foreign Missions has not attracted as much notice as it deserves, and we therefore group together some interesting features of that occasion. The attendance, as usual, was large, and the business of every grade. It is estimated not less than five thousand delegates and friends from abroad were present. About fifty returned missionaries, including their families, were present. The formal with-drawal of the New School Presbyterians from the Board, because of the union of the Old and New School Presbyterians in one body, and not for any dissatisfaction, was made unanimous. The Presbyterians who had formerly acted with the Board would magnify co-operate with the Missionary Society of their own church. The presence of Rev. Mr. Evans, who with his wife had labored thirty-five years in the Sandwich Islands, and his reports on the work, formed an intensely interesting feature of the occasion. In his wonderful account he stated he had baptized seventeen hundred converts in one day. As he expressed it, the tears upon that occasion were as plentiful as the water used in baptism. He received into the Christian Church in all twelve thousand heathen forty; and the converts increase. The Sandwich Islands are now self-sustaining, and hereafter will not need aid from the Board, simply because the work is done. In the face of such facts, no person should question the propriety of missions among the heathen.

The United Presbyterian, in plain language, rebukes the extravagance of the fashionable habits of mourning in families, as an expression of sorrow for one of its members, which leads them not to mourn as those who have no hope, but to mourn as those who have the sublimest of mourning have been put on may be in heaven, rejoicing with joy unspeakable, while relatives on earth are moving about in heavy and comfort garments, making their lives as gloomy as they can. In order to observe the foolish custom, whole webs of cloth are sometimes thrown away, and many of those unable to bear the expense, are compelled to do as others in this respect.

Right Rev. Dr. Gross, the Roman Catholic Bishop of Liverpool, has taken summary steps to stop the progress of holding "wakes" about the dead bodies of deceased persons. He has instilled the principles of sanctity, piety and dignity in the duties of this diocese, that, whenever it came to the knowledge that a wake had been held over a dead body, the burial service must not be read, but he or she must be buried like a dog."

During the pastorate of Rev. Dr. W. A. Davidson, a valued correspondent of this paper, of the Washington Street Methodist Episcopal church, gone prosperously has attained the membership of fifty three persons were received by him into full membership—a part of the gracious ingathering into his church last winter and spring. It was a very encouraging sight to see so many noble men and women dedicate themselves fully to the service of God.

One more touching scene was presented to a Chinese audience through an interpreter, at the close being at North Adams, Massachusetts. Rising there were five thousand delegates and friends from abroad were present. About fifty returned missionaries, including their families, were present. The formal withdr

MONEY AND COMMERCE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, October 14, 1870.

The money market has been working more than ordinarily easy for the past two days, causing some enquiry outside of bank for the best class of paper. The discount houses will be supplied this week. It is probable to nearly the full extent of their means, when rates will most likely turn again in favor of the lender.

There is more activity in stocks, and a freer offering for sale of the different National bank shares, although quotations are still too high to tempt buyers into the market to any great extent.

Allegheny Valley bonds are still quoted at 90@92, with but few lots on the market under the last named figure.

Our advices from New York report rather more activity in money, and a disposition to run up rates on call to 7 per cent. The cause for attraction for two days past has been the Gold Room. A strong attempt to wist the shorts through the scarcity of cash has succeeded in putting the quotations, for a time, to 114¾, and the rates for borrowing to 6, and in some instances to ⅞ per day. The New York Evening Post, of yesterday, gives the following account of the affair:

The panic working the gold market have been much more severe than with the whole old worth ⅛ of one per cent. per day, and currency in the money market worth seven per cent. gold. Of these millions paid a part was collected clearing-house by the pool, part has evidently been lent out again this afternoon, and the purpose of the whole operation is hid to the outside speculations in the premium, but to obtain for a series of days high rates for the use of gold, and to keep the money market of strength, so that suddenly over the power to do, unless the Treasury, ...verses. Since our last writing gold declined ... to 114¾ for cash, on a report that ... California had sold into the Sub-Treasury at San Francisco $1,000,000 in coin, for which the Assistant Treasurer would issue ... pay to the seller's orders to the Bank's correspondents in this city. The effect was also immediately visible in the Gold Room market, where the borrowing rate fell suddenly from ... of one per cent. to ⅛ of one per cent. On inquiry at the Sub-Treasury we were unable to obtain any confirmation of the report. Since our last edition the money market has been stringent, the rate of one time having been seven per cent. gold. At the time of writing the market is easier and loans are made at seven per cent., currency.

Our closing quotations this afternoon indicates a hitch in the programme, caused it is probable, by a wholesome fear of Secretary Boutwell.

The stock market fell yesterday under the ...ar of a stringent money market, but to recovering some ... again. It will be seen by a ...ence at our telegraphic columns.

PITTSBURGH STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, October 14, 1870.

There is nothing particularly new or important to be said about the iron trade, so far as Pittsburgh is concerned—nothing at least deserving of special notice. We have to report continued steady demand for bar iron and nails, as orders are coming in freely from nearly every direction, and as has been the case, for some time past, all the mills have as many as they can fill, notwithstanding they are running double turn, and, stocks are very much reduced. As we remarked in our last report, it seems not a little remarkable that Pittsburgh should be shipping iron east, principally to New York, but such is the fact; nor have these shipments been of recent date, having been kept up, more or less, for some time. It seems quite natural that the south and west should depend mainly on Pittsburgh for supplies, but it appears like reversing the laws of trade to ship eastward when iron can be had nearer home. We still have considerable consolidation in regard to small margins, and there is no doubt but these small margins, have assisted very materially in increasing and expanding our trade, as it has enabled Pittsburgh to cope successfully with all other local points.

There is a fair demand for pig iron, though the sales are not large, in the aggregate, which may be accounted for by the fact that the mills are buying just what will keep them going, and nothing beyond. We have not yet obtained the enquiries connected for during the time of the war excitement last July—one in which it is said to have connected for a seven months supply for the year, but which we have not thought enough to keep going for three, five or six months. As business is dull with the mills in the south, there is no more than is absorbing, but no an offset against this, the resources of western irons are failing off, and with the taking this case, there is no accumulation of stock here.

Disorderly.—Nicholas Harris was conducting himself in a disorderly manner in East Birmingham, yesterday, and Anthony Miller made information charging him with disorderly conduct before Justice Heisel, who issued a warrant for the arrest of Nicholas.

Assault and Battery.—Hanna Richards, a colored woman, made information before Justice Kretzer, of Birmingham, yesterday charging her brother, Charles Harris, with assault and battery, alleging that Charles beat and abused her. Charles was arrested and held for a hearing.

An Interesting Fact.—Those of our readers seeking houses, or investments in real estate, will save time, trouble and money, by calling at the Pittsburgh Real Estate Register. It is given away gratis by the publishers, Messrs. Croft & Phillips, Real Estate Agents, opposite the Postoffice, or it will be sent free by mail to any address.

Rev. Jno. H. Castle.—We are happy to learn that this well known divine of Philadelphia will visit our city to-day. He will officiate in the Union Baptist church, Grant street, to-morrow morning at 10½ o'clock, and at night. He will deliver the annual sermon before the Pastors' Aid Society in the same place. It will be an interesting occasion.

Surety.—Pat. Dickson is apprehensive of bad usage at the hands of Thomas Dickson, whom he alleges, broke into a house where he was and threatened to kick him out. To prevent Thomas from carrying his threats into execution, Pat. made information before Justice Heisel against Thomas for surety of the peace. Thomas was arrested and held for a hearing.

Military.—At an election held at Oakland on Thursday last for officers of the Fourth Company of the Second Battalion, a company of infantry, of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, the following officers were chosen: Captain, Jos. P. Andrews; 1st Lieut., Jos. P. Andrews; 2d Lieut., Louis Walters. The election was held by Maj. George Morris, A. A. G.

The Pittsburgh Grocer is the title of a new and sprightly journal intended to afford the trade a full and reliable review of the general market of this city, to be published monthly by the well known and extensive grocery house of Arbuckles & Co., 262 and 264 Liberty street. It is edited by James L. Styne, Esq., and the initial copy is highly creditable to his taste and judgement. May the Grocer thrive.

Country merchants who are in need of a stock of tobacco, cigars, pipes, &c., &c., will find it to their advantage to call at Negraw's, No. 65 Ninth street, and make their purchases. Negraw keeps a large assortment, both at home in the city, and purchasers will find that their money goes further at this establishment than elsewhere, for the articles he deals in and which are the attractions at Negraw's 65 Ninth street.

Stood the Test.—Yesterday afternoon thirty-three sections, 1,650 feet, of the new hose for the Allegheny fire department, was tested on Sycamore street, Fourth ward. The Friendship steamer was used in making the test. The hose was subjected to a pressure of two hundred pounds and of the thirty-three sections but four bursted,—a remarkably good showing for hose. The hose in question was manufactured by Pugh and Son, Philadelphia.

Personal.—Observing Sergeant Jas. Westof the United States Signal Corps, has arrived in the city, where he has established an office for observations according to the object of the Storm Signal Service. His observations will find daily publication in our columns, and will prove exceedingly interesting to river men, farmers and others. Sergeant West is one of the most accomplished members of the select corps of fifty who are to act in conjunction with each other as so many different points of observation in the country.

A Curious Growth.—Dr. Keyser has at his office, 187 Liberty street, an immense tumor, hanging one pound and fifteen ounces, which will be removed in a novel way, without caustic or the knife, from a lady patient. The tumor is the eighteen inches in circumference, and has gradually increasing for seven years. We have long known of the Doctor's success in treating chronic diseases, such as tumors, growths, as well as fistulas and other hard to cure affections. The success of the above case ought to gain for him additional patronage, especially when we regard the almost painless process of cure. It may be seen at the Doctor's office as above stated.

The Hand Street Bridge.—In Thursday's GAZETTE was published an item under the caption that Mr. James Pearson was knocked down and robbed on the Hand Street Bridge. Mr. Pearson called to inform us that there is no truth in the item. That the report of his being robbed, which has gained currency, was erroneous. We are glad to make the correction, as such announcements are calculated to do injury to the bridge. We regard the Hand Street Bridge as one of the most convenient and safest avenues of travel by day or by night in or about the city, and regret that we did injustice in the report of the item referred to.

First Reformed Presbyterian Church.—The pulpit of the First Reformed Presbyterian church (Dr. Douglas') will be filled tomorrow by gentlemen who are in attendance at the Synod of Pittsburgh, now in session in Dr. Howard's church. The Rev. Robert White, of Morgantown, West Virginia, will preach in the morning at half past ten o'clock, and the Rev. D. J. Lorimer, D. D., the able author of notes on Ecclesiastes &c., at half past two in the afternoon. These gentlemen are well known as able and talented preachers, and will attract large audiences.

An Immense Tumor.

One of the wonders of the medical art in the shape of an immense tumor, weighing one pound fifteen ounces, and measuring twenty-two inches around, may be seen at the office of Dr. Keyser, 187 Liberty street, which was removed from a gentleman from Iowa, a lady patient of his, who had suffered with it for the past seven years.

The operation is really a remarkable one, inasmuch as it was accomplished without either caustic or the use of the knife, and was almost painless in the extreme.

We commend the Doctor intends publishing a full account of the case, and the mode of removal in the current medical journal of the day, together with the many made fluidic extracts at a future period. The patient, at this date, is able to walk about with apparently recovering health.

Ballroth No. 8, Steinway tones.

The last eight days sales of the popular Steinway Pianos exhibit the following record:

Hon. Thomas M. Howe, a Steinway double-round piano; Dr. A. G. Wallace, a Steinway square grand; W. H. Barnes Esq., a Steinway upright; Miss Carrie Moody, a Steinway upright piano; Dr. John Parchment, Jr., a Steinway square grand; Ralph Bagaley, Esq., a Steinway square piano, etc.

The unbounded popularity and success of the Steinway's can be accounted for only on the score of actual superiority of their tones over all others. Those of a Steinway piano can readily be distinguished from that of other pianos by even the most uncultivated ear, while their extraordinary durability adds to them the cheapest piano as well in the long run. Our friends, H. Kleber & Bro., do a large business in Steinways, and they merit their success, as they sell at exceedingly low rates and on accommodating terms.

Brokerage.

The business of Brokerage, in Pittsburgh has of late become a very important branch of trade. The loaning of money on bonds and mortgages, by our Saving Banks and Capitalists has become very popular, and many have gone into the business. Men loaning money and those borrowing, should always be careful to have well known respectable men to negotiate their loans. Among the class we speak of is Mr. George B. Hills, whose office is on the corner of Third avenue and Wood street.

Mill is well-known by our moneyed men to be a man of trust and confidence, and a man who thoroughly understands his business. He is commended by many of our best bankers. Persons having money to loan and those wishing to borrow should make the acquaintance of Mr. Hills. He is now in receipt of some first-class mortgages. His rates are reasonable, and all business entrusted to him will be attended to promptly. Those having money to loan, refer him to our readers, knowing him personally, to be all we have said of him, as best, first-class business man.

See his advertisement in corner of Third avenue and Wood street.

That Petition to Councils, and the Board of Health.

MESSRS. EDITORS GAZETTE: Some time since a petition, signed by about twelve hundred citizens, was presented to Councils, asking that the Board of Health be instructed to grant permits equally to all night-soilers, as the present plan of granting them to privileged parties only, was thought to be both unjust and monopolizing. Councils accepted the petition and directed the Board of Health to take some action upon it, with the tacit understanding that they were to report favorably upon the granting of such permits. The Board of Health met on Monday evening, but never saw fit to report favorably upon the proceedings of the last meeting of the said Board. I anxiously await the result of the next meeting, as I am one of the petitioners on the subject. Can you give me any information on the subject? Has it been forgotten? Does the Board of Health intend to act upon the petition, or I would ask do they think the injustice to imagine that they can consider themselves so entirely superior to the people whom they represent, when they are aware of Councils' wish concerning the commencement of the night soil season, and thereby set aside the petition? Any reply to this communication will be thankfully received by many citizens, as well as by myself. Yours, &c. [We think the Board of Health will act upon the petition, and that favorably to the petitioners. We have no doubt that the Board will take some action in the matter at their next meeting, which will be held on Monday evening next.—EDS. GAZETTE.]
